ROYAL ARCH MASONS FORM NEW CHAPTER AT BISHOP

Mattison B. Jones, Grand High Priest of California, Constitutes Body

DRIVES THERE IN AUTO

Members of Unity Chapter Are Royally Entertained and Given Presents

Mattison B. Jones, grand high priest of the state of California, who left here Wednesday morning to go to Bishop to constitute Owens Valley Chapter No. 124, Royal Arch Masons, returned late Friday night with the companions from Unity Chapter who had accompanied and assisted him in his work, viz.: Clem L. V. Moore and Mark T. Lee, past high priests of the chapter, and F. H. Vesper, by affiliation a high priest of the chapter. At Bishop they were joined by two companions from San Gabriel Valley Chapter at Alhambra.

The companions at Bishop had made extensive plans for the entertainment of their guests in connection with the constitution of their chapter and these included a big banquet Thursday evening preceding the constitution of the chapter at which only Royal Arch Masons and their ladies were guests.

The constitution took place in the Bishop theater, where a large crowd gathered to witness the impressive ceremonies, including not only Royal Arch Masons and their ladies, but also Master Masons and their ladies. Companion Moore was acting deputy grand high priest, Companion Lee acting grand secretary, Companion Vesper acting grand treasurer, Companion Utter of Alhambra acting grand king, and Companion Pelton of Alhambra acting grand scribe. In his official capacity as grand high priest and with the assistance of these companions, Mr. Jones constituted the chapter.

He was so impressed with the fine character of the people of Bishop, their rugged, virile Americanism, particularly the members of the new chapter, that he is very optimistic about the growth of Masonic order there. In his address he prophesied that it would be but a short time before a commandery of Knights Templar would be possible in Bishop. A second banquet to which all present were invited, followed the constitution of the chapter.

Friday morning the party was entertained by the companions in Bishop with a trout breakfast so bountiful that as many fish were left on the platter as were consumed, and this was followed by the presentation to each member of a large box of trout on ice to be brought home to their friends in Gendae.

In telling of their speedy and successful trip, unmarred by any mishap or auto trouble of any sort, Mr. Jones said:

"The machine was brought to the intermediate only once and that was in Bouquet canyon and this is explained in part by the fact that we had a fine machine—and four of the best kind of drivers, Clem Moore, owner of the machine, being best of the best. The trip was most delightful from every viewpoint, but especially because of my associates who proved themselves to be among the best story tellers, both true and false I have ever known, and the most companionable of good fellows. The round trip covered nearly 600 miles and we did not require during the whole run a drop of oil and did not add to exceed a quart of water. We left Bishop at 7:20 Friday morning and reached home before 10 o'clock Friday night, the speedometer showing 293 miles, and 150 of that in the rain."

WOMAN OF MYSTERY IS CAUSE OF THE STILLMAN CASE SETTLEMENT

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 23.—A former affinity of James A. Stillman, whom he had scorned, went to the National City bank to shoot him while the divorce suit was at its zenith, it was disclosed today. Equipped with a revolver, the "woman of mystery" tried to gain access to his office in the bank of which Stillman then was president. This woman then volunteered to testify on behalf of Mrs. "Fifi" Potter Stillman, and it was this that prompted the multi-millionaire ex-banker's sudden decision to settle the case out of court, to the tune of an annuity of more than $80,000 for his wife.

FEDERATION MEETS IN ANNUAL SESSION

Representatives of the federated missionary societies of Glendale met at the Baptist church this morning, the session opening at 10 o'clock with Mrs. O. L. Kilborn, vice-president, in the chair. All united in singing "The Morning Light is Breaking,' and the song was followed by the 23d psalm.

The report of the nominating committee was presented by Mrs. Spickerman and officers were unanimously elected in accordance with the recommendations of the report, as follows: Mrs. Effie Weien, president; Mrs. W. J. Jeter, vice-president; Mrs. A. L. Howard, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Jennie Mottern, recording secretary and treasurer.

The new president then took the chair and led in a devotional service which began with the singing of "Savior, Like a Shepherd Lead Me," and was followed by many fervent prayers.

Mrs. J. Rhea Baker tthen gave a Bible study, "The Key to the Mystery." Luncheon was served in the basement during the noon hour, and the majority of the ladies in attendance remained to enjoy it.

The afternoon session provided a talk by Mrs. Margaret Locke, representing the home mission board of the Methodist church; also an address by Mr. Griffit, a missionary from Japan, and musical numbers by Mrs. Bentley.

REV. M. M. ESHELMAN PASSED AWAY ON SATURDAY

Founder of Lordsburg College in La Verne—Pastor of Church of Brethren

Rev. Matthew M. Eshelman, the blind minister of the Church of the Brethren in Glendale and founder of Lordsburg college in La Verne, died Saturday night at his home at 1247 South Maryland avenue, at the age of 77 years.

Mr. Eshelman was born in Pennsylvania, September 1, 1844. He came to California 29 years ago, and to Glendale 12 years ago. Ever since coming to California he has been engaged in religious and colonization work. Eight years ago he founded and taught the Berean Bible school in the Lincoln Park district, Los Angeles, since then he has been pastor of the Church of the Brethren in this city. Undaunted by the total loss of his sight which afflicted him three years ago, Mr. Eshelman continued to preach and to write on religious topics.

Lordsburg college, which has grown to importance as a religious institution, was founded by Mr. Eshelman shortly after his coming to Southern California. For many years he was a colonization agent for the Santa Fe railway, in which capacity he made 120 round trips between Los Angeles and Chicago.

A widow, Mrs. Salome Eshelman, three sons and four daughters, survive him. The children are Harvey H., of Santa Monica; Herbert, of Spokane, Wash.; Alvin, of Livingston, Calif.; Mrs. John Keefer, Covina; Mrs. O. H. Lehmer, San Gabriel; Mrs. Cora Kindig, Honolulu, and Mrs. Amy Langfield of Healdsburg, Calif. There are also five stepchildren.

Funeral services will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the First Methodist church, Rev. G. Bashor, of Glendora, officiating. Interment will take place in Forest Lawn cemetery. The L. G. Scovern company has charge of the funeral arrangements.

Young men and women who belong to this class say that its particular significance in this case is, if you join it, it's "the beginning" of good times for you and "the end" of loneliness.

A general invitation is extended all young people of the city who are not members of other classes, to come to this merry party at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening.

The fire started in the Rich & French company's broom factory and sprang to a row of nearby dwellings. Twenty-five girl employes of the broom plant were rescued in sensational manner by firemen when cut off by the flames.

MAY'S RAIN RECORD GREATER THAN IN ANY PREVIOUS YEAR

Citrus Fruit Growers Are Delighted and All Crop Prospects Improved — No Damage Done by Storm

When T. W. Preston stated Sunday morning that the rainfall for May had exceeded anything recorded for May in many years he supposed he had reached the climax and that the storm was over. The weatherman thought otherwise. On top of the 1.90 inches which fell in the 24 hours ending Sunday morning came .54 of an inch additional, which brought the total precipitation for the storm up to 3.89 inches. This amount in addition to the 1.05 which fell earlier in the month makes a total for May up to 8 a. m., today of 4.94, which distances all records for this locality since records were kept. It brings the total for the season to 17.62 inches as compared with 17.33 last year. Mr. Preston states that the annual rainfall of this locality averages about 19 inches, or an inch under that of Pasadena.

As to the storm damage, all reports indicate that it is negligible. It came very gently with intervals between and as the ground was dry has been soaked up with almost no run-off, even at Long Beach.

Mr. Preston says in recent trips to Hermosa he noticed some hay that had been cut and rained on which will probably now be a loss, but the greater part of the barley is still standing though it may have been lodged by the storm and be difficult to harvest.

As to beans, unsprouted seed will be likely to rot but beans that are up will be much benefited. All around he thinks the good will offset any evils of a storm so late in the season.

As the barometer is still low he looks for more rain today to further swell the unusual precipitation.

Lester Jones of the Rossmoyne Packing Company, states that the rain, though it comes late, will be very beneficial to citrus fruit, and that it has done orchards incalculable good. Growers are very much pleased and will not have to irrigate for several weeks, also he thinks there will be no splitting of fruit as a result of the storm.

Speaking of citrus fruit, Mr. Jones says the market for lemons is looking up and shipments have been heavy for several weeks. Quite a large percent of the output is going by water to Boston and Philadelphia and it has been getting through in such good shape as to greatly encourage producers and brokers. The difference in time between water and overland shipments in only four to six days and the saving in freight cost amounts to 60 cents a box or $250 a carload, which is very much worth while.

It has also been found that Valencias hold up well when shipped that way. The Navels are so ripe at this time of year that they will not stand the voyage, but that crop is practically off the market, only a few carloads being left in Southern California.

The boats that are being used have ventilated holds, but are not equipped to provide refrigeration.

TENTATIVE POLICY OF ADMINISTRATION

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 23.—George T. Summerlin, counsellor of the American embassy at Mexico, left last night for Mexico City, the state department announced today.

Summerlin, it was learned, carried with him a communication for President Obregon which outlines the tentative policy of the Harding administration towards Mexico. State department officials refused today to state that a formal communication had been addressed to Obregon, but it was learned that Summerlin carries a statement of policy which, while incomplete and not final, will give the Mexican president a fair outline of the attitude of the present administration.

The state department has reached a decision with regard to the Mexican policy, it was announced today, but it is not yet in such shape that any statement can be made.

BACKS HIS OPTIMISM WITH PERFECTLY GOOD DOLLARS

H. H. Parker Making Investment of $30,000 in West Glendale Section

H. H. Parker, who is the optimistic champion of West Glendale has visions of a great future for that part of the city and says he has good reason because the trend of growth is that way.

As already announced, Mr. Parker has taken out a permit for an apartment and store building at Doran and Columbus which will have a frontage of 100 feet on Doran and a depth of 50 feet. It will consist of four store rooms on the first floor and 26 three and four room apartments which three and four-room apartments which will be up to the minute with built-in features and hardwood floors There will also be two courts and roof gardens.

The construction is described as "cement-plaster" with stucco finish, and strictly modern, the store windows to be of plate glass. Laralda & Barber are the architects.

The ground was broken this morning and the building will be rapidly pushed to completion. Mr. Parker hopes it will be ready in less than 90 days. He is making an investment of about $30,000, and when a man backs his faith with his dollars to that extent, it is proof he has confidence in the future of that part of our city.

It is expected that the corner store will be occupied by a druggist. The one next to it will be used by Mr. Parker himself as a grocery and market. One of the other stores will probably be used by a dry goods merchant. For the fourth store no plans have been made, but it is not likely to lack a tenant.

Every girl in Glendale is invited to come and bring "the other girl."

TOM MOONEY, LABOR LEADER, ENJOYS A BRIEF RESPITE FROM PRISON

(By International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, May 23.—For a second time within a few weeks, Tom Mooney, Pacific coast labor leader, now serving a life sentence for alleged participation in the Preparedness day bombing here, enjoyed a brief respite from the obscurity of the prison walls of San Quentin.

He was brought to San Francisco today on orders from the superior court, to be present at the argument before Superior Judge Harold Lauderback for a writ of audita querela through which his attorney, Byron C. Parker, hopes to win him a new trial.

The writ—one of the rarest in legal practice has never been invoked in a similar case in California before.

Parker seeks to establish an alibi for Mooney through the presentation of affidavits from a score of witnesses who were unheard at the time of the original trial and the effect of whose testimony is to strongly corroborate the claim made by Mooney at the time of his trial that he was on top of a building many blocks from the scene of the explosion at the time it occurred.

Mooney's faithful wife and other relatives were on hand to greet him when he arrived from San Quentin in charge of deputy sheriffs.

ENTHUSIASM OVER EPWORTH LEAGUE

At the Epworth League convention of the Pasadena district, which has just been held in Redlands, the First Methodist church of this city had a delegation of 35 and captured two of the offices for the coming year. Henry Malone of this city was made treasurer and J. B. Clarke, secretary.

Sunday night the league of the First Methodist Episcopal church had quite a reunion and celebration at which echoes of the convention were given in reports by delegates. The enthusiasm climaxed in a decision to give an Epworth League banquet in the church, June 10, to which all the leagues in Glendale will be invited, and to engage Rev. W. L. G. Davis, district superintendent, as speaker. It is also understood that when the Christian Endeavor convention comes to Glendale the Methodist young people will cooperate and do all they can to make it a big success, for reciprocity in religious work is their motto.

President Harding Gives Oration for Soldier Dead

Stood in Midst of 5252 Flag-Draped Caskets at Hoboken, New Jersey—Says to Make Nation So Powerful That No One Will Dare Invoke Its Wrath

I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, May 23.—America's grief and America's pride for her warrior dead who fell on the battlefields of Europe, were uttered today through the lips of President Harding, when he delivered a devotional address in Hoboken at memorial services for the Americans who died in action abroad.

Standing amidst 5,252 plain, white pine coffins, each draped with the Stars and Stripes, President Harding spoke, and with a voice choked with emotion, while tears welled up in his eyes, expressed the heartfelt wish that the mankind of the United States may never be called upon again to go to war.

"I would not wish a nation for which men are not willing to fight and, if need be, die, but I do wish for a nation where it is not necessary to ask for that sacrifice," said President Harding.

"I do not pretend that the millennial day has come, but I can believe in the possibility of a nation being so righteous as never to make a war of conquest and a nation so powerful in righteousness that no one will dare invoke her wrath. I wish for such an America."

Pulled out from the rest of the coffins was one containing the remains of Joseph Guyton, of Company I, 126th Infantry, who was the first American to meet death under the Stars and Stripes on enemy soil. He was killed in France on May 24, 1918.

DAMAGED

DR. FUNK COMMENDS RELIGIOUS ZEAL

Sets Forth Value of Earnest, Well-Defined Propaganda in the Church

Dr. H. C. Funk, pastor of the First Lutheran church of this city, in a sermon delivered Sunday morning, discussed religious propaganda. For his text he chose Act 17-23: "For as I passed by and beheld your devotions, I found an altar with this inscription—To The Unknown God. Whom therefore ye ignorantly worship, him declare I unto you."

Dr. Funk said in part:

"There are three distinctive types of Christian piety. On the one hand we have the Roman Catholic church with a well defined propaganda. She knows what she wants to accomplish, and she has a definite policy which she pursues with commendable uniformity.

On the other hand the Reformed branches of the Protestant church have a type of religious life entirely different from that of the Roman church. Indeed, these two elements represent extreme phases of religion. Between these two extremes, and occupying the position of a golden mean, stands the Lutheran church. Her distinctive doctrines, her liturgy, literature and record for achievements, have resulted in a confession of faith and a type of piety that is instinctively her own.

Our Seventh Day Advent and Christian Science friends are frequently criticised for their religious propaganda. We are inclined to think, however, that they are to be commended for their zeal. The Apostle Paul had a religious conviction, and he considered it his duty to impress this truth upon all the world. Moreover, in so doing he was but obeying the injunction, "go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature."

The Lutheran church, with more than 80,000,000 members, is not a sect but a world religion; for her followers are found in all lands, and in well nigh every island of the seas, where she preaches the Gospel in a hundred different tongues. Moreover she has maintained a marvelous unity. Never, in her 400 years of history, has our church ever been rent asunder with one division going out to organize a new denomination. While other Protestant bodies are having their divisions and their heresy trials the great Church of the Reformation continues steadfast in her doctrinal unity.

This wonderful solidarity in the Lutheran church is largely due to her doctrinal teaching and the careful training of her children.

Men will wear pants longer this year.

M'NAMARA FREED AFTER TEN YEARS

(By International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, May 23.—John J. McNamara, dynamiter, has been released from San Quentin prison, after serving nine years and five months for dynamiting the Llewellyn Iron Works in Los Angeles in 1910. McNamara evaded all interviewers on arrival in San Francisco.

J. J. McNamara

Officials of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, of which McNamara was formerly secretary whisked him away in an automobile. Later these officials announced that McNamara had communicated by telegraph with other friends, and that no attempt had been made to rearrest him on charges said to be pending against him in the federal court at Indianapolis.

McNamara addressed a meeting of the local Structural Iron Workers' Union the night after his arrival here from San Quentin prison.

He left behind him in San Quentin his brother, James B. McNamara, who is serving a life sentence for murder in connection with the blowing up of the Los Angeles Times building.

TOOL OF ORGANIZED BAND OF BANDITS

Disguised Herself as Maid and Looted Several Homes of Wealthy People

CHICAGO, May 23.—The possibility that Mrs. Etta Heil, 44, wife of J. S. Heil, wealthy banker and broker, may have been the "tool" of an organized ring of bandits, was considered by the police today as they followed up the confession made by the women. Mrs. Heil confessed that she, despite her possession of wealth, had disguised herself as a maid and looted homes of several north shore residents.

The new theory was evolved after reports of mysterious telephone conversations which Mrs. Heil is alleged to have had with unknown men, had reached the police. Victims of Mrs. Heil's raids also declared it would have been impossible for her to have removed many of the articles taken, unaided.

Police are endeavoring to trace the telephone conversations, which were overheard by a neighbor on a "party" wire.

Mrs. Heil was still in custody this afternoon. She has admitted theft of articles valued at $25,000 over a period of months. Her condition is such that the police feared to take her into court today.

JOHN BROWN HAS DATES FOR NEXT YEAR

W. Waterhouse arrived in Glendale Saturday from Reedley, where the John Brown meetings are in their third week. He reports wonderful success there, and also that he has made appointments for next season all along the line—Porterville, Visalia and other cities. Mr. Waterhouse has bought the tabernacle here and after the convention he will take it down and move it to Forty-second street and South Park avenue, Los Angeles, where Mr. Brown will begin a series of meetings in August. According to Mr. Waterhouse, much of the evangelist's time will be spent in California.

INSUFFICIENT NOTICE

Little Mary came into the house bedraggled and weeping.

"My goodness," cried her mother, "what a sight you are! How did it happen?"

"I'm s-s-sorry, mamma, but I fell into a mud puddle."

"What! With your best new dress on?"

"Y-y-yes. I didn't have time to change it."

As a means of communicating with the land of spirits, that phone line will prove more satisfactory than a ouija board.

AT THEATERS

Palace Grand

The story of "The Faith Healer," which is shown at the Palace Grand theater today is beautiful in its simplicity and one that will appeal to every person with a soul, old and young alike, and to the most devout church people as well as the commonest and roughest of humanity.

No sweeter or more logical theme ever presented itself for dramatization The story of "The Faith Healer" is one of Faith in the Infinite and is Christianity in its true sense. There are no murders in it and no scenes will ever have to be eliminated to satisfy the strictest censors; yet there are many thrilling moments in the production, a wonderful love theme, a realistic bit of society life and some extraordinary scenes taken in the country.

Thousands of people participate in the final scenes of the production and the principal characters of the story make one live right with them by the ease and naturalness with which their respective parts are enacted.

The titles of the play are unusually clever and the photography and beauty of numerous scenes are noteworthy.

This is a Paramount picture featuring Milton Sills and Ann Forrest.

Glendale Theater

"Pleasure Seekers," Elaine Hammerstein's latest and best picture, was heartily enjoyed by the audiences of the Glendale theater yesterday.

The story of the young man spoiled by his rich father's money and brought to a sense of sane living by his sensible young wife is wholesome and entertaining. The comedy touches are good, the blustering, swearing father-in-law coming in for his share of the young wife's discipline affording some real humor.

The latest Pathe News and the tenth episode of the "Son of Tarzan" complete the bill at the Glendale theater, with Mme. Maude Moore Clement at the console of the Southland's greatest theater organ.

YEGGS BLOW SAFE; ESCAPE WITH CASH

(By International News Service)

SEATTLE, May 23.—While dozens of people passed on the streets expert yeggs blew the safe in the Spring Cigar Store in the heart of the uptown district early today, escaping with between $400 and $500 cash and leaving $2000 in checks scattered over the floor. They used just enough nitro to neatly jar the door off, the explosion, however, being heard by the clerk in the Imperial hotel adjoining, who notified the police. The yeggs are believed to have been the same who last week blew the safe in a big restaurant downtown.

COAL STRIKE WORKS HARDSHIPS

By WILLIAM L. MALLABAR
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

LONDON, May 23.—Unemployment as a result of the coal strike has hit the women of England very hard.

This not only applies to the wives mothers and daughters of the miners, but also to the women employed in various industries, notably in the engineering and pottery works.

Reports have been received from many labor centers at the ministry of labor which indicate the great extent of the depression and dislocation that now exist.

From Liverpool it is reported that unemployment among women of that city is the worst that has been experienced for many years and that practically every industry is severely affected. At St. Helens half the women employed in the glass bottle industry are suspended and other Lancashire towns are reporting similar conditions.

In Yorkshire and East Midlands unemployment and short time are prevalent throughout the textile centers. Leeds reports a register of over 8000 women out of work in addition to nearly 2000 short time workers.

"The heavy volume of unemployment in all industrial areas in London continues unabated," says the report, "and increased numbers of claims for unemployment pay are reported. At Bermondsey, where the leather, tailoring, shirt and collar industries are depressed, the register for women out of work stands at 3000, in addition to 1000 short time workers."

"At East Ham, rubber workers, clothing trade workers and general factory workers are unemployed and the register for women is over 1500. At Edgware it is over 1300 and at Camberwell Green, Holloway and Shepherd's Bush it stands approximately at 2600 for each exchange. At Tooting there are over 1000 women employed by confectionery makers who are on short time."

Scotland is, of course, feeling the effects of the strike. Textile workers in Dumbarton are being paid off and short time is reported in the tweed, woolen and shawl-making factories.

Unemployment in Glasgow is serious and there are over 2000 women registered as out of work, while at Edinburgh the register of women is stated to be the highest at any period since the inception of the out-of-work donation.

Doesn't Want Bonds

"Editor Glendale Press—I am opposed to Los Angeles annexation at all times, but it occurs to me that the present Glendale city administration is about the strongest friend annexation has. We are supposed to pay someone a salary to make up the yearly budget for the city expenses and our tax list, made accordingly. In about 90 days after the budget is issued we are called upon to vote bonds for this and that on account of the rapid growth of Glendale. If the necessary amount was stated in the budget, people generally would not object to necessary bonds if they were included. We all know our city is growing rapidly and we are glad of it and also hope it will continue. Why not make allowance for this and fix our tax rate the first of the fiscal year to cover the same and stop a few of these bond elections, budget or no budget. We are now required to pay for our water meters and no rebate. The paying of them is all right if the city can't, but rather tough to try and give the city an article to measure something they charge us for. There should be a rebate in water rates until the meter is paid for.

"Again, on top of this, no one wants to pay about 75 cents a month for the removal of garbage. One man said to me today: 'I have been against annexation, but not now. I own property in Los Angeles and my tax in Glendale is more than I pay there.' So there you are. I am no kicker or knocker but I think we should know at first what the year's cost will be to us, and not to string it along every 90 days or so."

"W. H. NICOLES,
"210 East Elk avenue."

Only Clue Is Finger Prints

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 23.—A bloody scrap of paper which the authorities hope may contain finger prints, was the only clue today to the perpetrator of a brutal murder on the outskirts of Washington. The victim was Mrs. Margaret Weber, 21-year-old bride of six months, who was soon to become a mother.

MILITARY FUNERAL FOR WARREN VINACKE

The funeral of Warren Vinacke, which takes place this afternoon at the Little Church of the Flowers at 2 p. m., will be military in character and all his comrades in the Glendale Company, California National Guards, under command of Captain T. D. Watson will participate, some of them acting as pall bearers, others being detailed for a firing squad. He came with his parents last September, from Port Townsend, Wash., to Eagle Rock where the family located. He was born in Monte Vista, Colo., and would have been 18 years old had he lived until June 30. He joined the Home Guards in Le Grand, Ore., during the war and later the organization became a part of the state militia. He was a favorite wherever he went and after coming to Eagle Rock united with the Methodist church of that city under the pastorate of Rev. Gilliland, who conducted the services this afternoon.

Besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Venacke, he leaves a sister, Mrs. Don Bradford who lives in Eugene, Ore.

Climbs to His Death

(By International News Service)

TELLURIDE, Colo., May 23.—Peter Mettunef, 32, a shoemaker, got a fair start heavenward before committing suicide, but failed to secure a firm foothold upon his lofty perch.

Mettunef climbed a 30-foot telephone pole, cut his throat with a knife and plunged to the ground, fracturing his skull. He died within a few hours.

MAKING HOMES

We believe that every man and every woman has that deep heart-felt desire for home ownership, and do appreciate that—

The happiness and success that come through the possession of a dwelling place in some way worthy of your ideals will be a heritage to "hand down" PRIDEFULLY.

The boys and girls now growing up will set their standards where they see YOURS placed.

To encourage the contentment of yourself and of your children with a home environment that's commonplace, if not downright ugly, is surely no way to help your sons and daughters fan Ambition's spark to flame.

Better homes are not a luxury of the present, but an investment for the future.

And ONE SURE THING, the old-fashioned man or woman who steadfastly refuses to avail themselves of expert building advice, and goes ahead with the idea that "putting up" a satisfactory building is a simple matter will have the rest of their lifetime to think it over.

ANOTHER SURE THING IS THAT YOU WILL MAKE NO MISTAKE in selecting the plans for your new home from our photographic plan and building service.

GOVERNMENT EXPENDITURES

The United States Congress, which is having considerable trouble finding a way to raise funds to meet the government's expenses, might do well to study British methods and expenditures. The British budget for the coming year is one billion pounds, which, on a dollar basis, is but little, if any, larger than our own. Great Britain was in the war four years; we were in for 19 months. The British army was double our own in numbers, and since the armistice she has been obliged to maintain large forces in different parts of the world.

But, more than this, Britain has a surplus of 230,500,000 pounds from last year's budget. The United States surplus is a deficit. Britain's budget report shows that the British foreign debt has been reduced 117,000,000 pounds, of which 75,000,000 pounds were paid on the debt of this country. This extraordinary demonstration of government economy may well serve as a lesson to the United States government, and especially the fact that the British government has a budget system while the United States continues to plod along by the unbusiness-like method of voting appropriations.

It is not surprising that the taxpayers of the nation are protesting against high taxes. The deflation of prices of farm products puts the farmer in a position not infrequently of not being able to pay his high taxes out of his profits, whereas the business man has faced the plight of turning over to the government as taxes such profits as would be expected in normal times to go into his business for further expansion.

ECONOMY IN RETAILING

There is a hopeful sign in the numerous changes being brought about in the retail world. To the credit of the dealers themselves, in most instances, the buying public is learning economies in buying which until recently seemed to have been looked upon with scorn. A brief history of retailing, say of the last decade, reveals an almost unbelievable mounting of cost. What the merchant refers to as "overhead expenses" have increased with unwarranted strides. To analyze this one finds that the overhead expense has increased because the customers have demanded unprecedented service.

During the past ten or fifteen years the buying public has demanded an elaborate delivery system. Purchases ranging from 10 cents to $10 are delivered with equal haste. Those who are ablest to pay cash have demanded long-time credit, with the resulting costly system of accounting and monthly bills. Numerous other costly services are demanded from the merchant; he must exchange goods, permit wearing apparel to be taken out of the store on approval or supply his trade with extraordinary large assortments of faddish articles, all of which increases his "profit and loss" and must go into the overhead expenses.

But the past year or so has witnessed a determined effort on the part of merchants to get away from much of this useless overhead expense.

KEPT SOMETHING ON

"Was that your model going out as I came in?" asked the visitor to the studio of a painter-friend.

"Yes; and a very good model she is," was the artist's reply.

"Does she ever pose in the nude?"

"No; she never takes off her diamond rings."—Yonkers Statesman.

TAKEN RIGHT IN

"Did her father encourage you?"

"He smoked a 50-cent cigar I happened to have in my pocket and borrowed $10. Is that encouragement?"

"'Encouragement'? My boy, it looks to me as if you were already a member of the family."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

PROSPECTS GOOD

"Here's a gent writes our mail-order houses for a wife."

"Can we fill that order?"

"I think so. One of our young lady clerks has started a coy correspondence with him."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

STRATEGY

"I saw the cutest little hat this afternoon."

"Did you buy it?"

"Not yet. I've got to pick out a more expensive one for my husband to refuse to buy so I can compromise on this one."—New York Sun.

SAFE ENOUGH

"That lady has dropper her lace handkerchief. Pick it up."

"I hesitate to do so. It may be her petticoat."

"You're safe in picking it up. Ladies don't wear petticoats."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

DANGEROUS

"I wonder if dyeing one's hair is really as dangerous as the doctors say?" said Watts.

"You bet it is," replied Henpeck. "An uncle of mine tried it once and in less than three months he was married to a widow with four children."—New York Globe.

CRUSHED

"Do you remember the night you proposed marriage to me, dear?" asked the sweet young thing.

"Very well indeed," replied the cruel man. "Those were two mighty good cigars you put out of business."—Yonkers Statesman.

A SLOW WOOER

"Julia," her father called from the top of the stairs, "did I hear a smack down there just now?"

"If you did," she replied, "you're a wonder. I've been hoping to hear one all evening."—Oregon Farmer.

HIGH COST OF MARRIAGE

"It's got so these days that a man can hardly wed unless he can show the girl two licenses."

"Two licenses?"

"Yes, marriage and automobile."—New Haven Register.

SAD DISAPPOINTMENT

"So you consider Jack misleading and disappointing. Why, dear?"

"Well he had me on the tenterhooks last night in expectation that he was going to ask me to go to the theater."

"And didn't he?"

"No, he only asked me to marry him."—Boston Transcript.

A comedian tells of a colored peace officer who came on the "lot" seeking a mulatto charged with the "crime" of stealing a ham.

"You can't find him running around in this blind fashion," said the comedian. "Don't you know what he looks like? Can't you supply a description of some sort?"

"Yes, sah, ah certainly can," replied the plainly puzzled officer. "Lemme see—as Ah remembers it. He's got a smooth chin an' a rough voice."—Toledo Blade.

Series of Articles on Patents, Inventions, Etc.

By WILLIAM C. CUTLER of Glendale, California

GROWTH, ORGANIZATION, AND METHOD OF GRANTING PATENTS

In addition to the examining corps, the technical and legal organization of the patent office consists of interference examiners, a trade mark examiner, a classification examiner, a board of examiners in chief, a staff of law examiners, and a commissioner and assistant commissioners. The interference examiners decide who is the earliest of several inventors having conflicting claims for the same invention; the board is an appellate tribunal which hears and decides cases passed on adversely by a lower tribunal; while the commissioner has still further appellate jurisdiction. From the commissioner a final appeal lies to the court of appeals of the District of Columbia.

The work of the classification examiner and his assistants is probably the most involved in the office. As before stated, more than a million and a quarter patents have been granted in this country. Probably upward of a billion facts are disclosed in these patents, each more or less concrete and all more or less associated in different combinations, involving several more billion arrangements of a greater or less number of units. The effectiveness of the search of the examiner is wholly dependent upon the character of this classification, consequently the importance of a scientific classification is evident. The office has wrestled with this problem for about 20 years, at an expense of more than half a million dollars and hopes to secure eventually a complete and workable scheme.

Beginning of the Merit System in the Civil Service

An interesting historical fact is the institution by Commissioner of Patents Fisher, in 1869, of the competitive examination system for entrance into the examining corps, thus anticipating by many years the general introduction of the merit system for government appointments. This is believed to be the first appearance of this feature in the history of our civil service. The requirements of the position of examiner were such as to make it dangerous to the rights of inventors and manufacturers to place in control of the technical and legal administration of the work, untrained men selected by haphazard appointment through favoritism. Thus, force of circumstances compelled the establishment and retention in the patent office of the merit system long in advance of its endorsement by public sentiment and its general adoption through legislation.

Influence of Inventions on the History of the United States

Apart from her material resources, the United States owes her commanding position in the economic sphere more to the inventive genius of her people than to any other single factor. The development of those material resources is due mostly to the processes and mechanisms which have resulted from invention. Unaided labor, that is, primal human energy, would have been of but little avail in extracting the enormous wealth from the bowels of the earth, in gathering the immense crops, in producing the stupendous output of steel and other metals in the mills and refineries, in fabricating the huge quantities of manufactured articles that come from the factory and shop, and in transporting the raw and finished materials that make up our almost unlimited tonnage of rail and shipping. Without the influence of invention, we could not conceive of the modern world as developed from the old world of manual operations. Without such inventions as the steam engine, the locomotive, the steamship, the telegraph, the telephone, the automobile, the trolley car, the electric light, the dynamo, the motor, the reaper, the cotton gin, the printing press, the smelting furnace, our present civilization could not exist. To invention alone do we owe vastly increased production of the fruits of the earth and of the materials of manufacture; to invention alone must we look for such further increment of wealth that the reasonable aspirations of every civilized being may be provided for.

As the world must depend upon the solution of the social and economic problems for the proper and equitable distribution of the products of labor, so it must through the agency of invention that sufficient wealth in the aggregate shall be produced to make possible a high average of comfort and well being. Not only is invention the means by which increased productivity necessary for the betterment of the economic state must be accomplished, but it is the medium through which the worker may express his ideas in the way of improving processes and machines. Invention is the direct means for advancing the worker's state and many of the greatest inventors have come up from the ranks at the bench, the lathe, in the shop and the laboratory. It is the most democratic of opportunities, and its rewards (where the intent of the system is attained), are most equitable.

SMALL PORTIONS

James S. Sweeney, the Knights of Columbus delegate to France during the world war, was discussing, at his Brooklyn home, his trip abroad.

"The restaurant prices in Paris," he said, "are incredible. A simple dinner at a fashionable place costs $20, and even then it is difficult to get enough to eat. The portions—"

Mr. Sweeney laughed.

—"the portions remind me of the Scottish farmhand's porridge.

"'Jock,' said this fellow's employer, 'there's a fly in yet pairritch.'

"'That disnae matter,' replied Jock gloomily; 'it'll no droon.'

The farmer glared at him.

"'What do ye mean?' he angrily asked. 'That's as much as sayin' ye haven't enough mulk.'

"'Oh,' replied Jock, still more gloomily, 'there's mair than enough for a' the pairritch I have.'"

REMEMBER THE FLOOD

A theater in Galveston, Texas, posted this sign:

"Please do not smoke. Remember the Iroquois theater fire."

A waggish patron noted the sign and wrote underneath:

A BIG BITE FOR A LITTLE MITE—PRESS CLASSIFIED COLUMNS

GLENDALE ROMANCE IN REAL(TY) LIFE

Oldtimers Tell of Selling for a Mere Bagatelle Property Now Worth Fortune

The romance of realty development is Los Angeles, which made many a man wealthy in spite of himself without lifting a hand, is still going on, but it is not quite so spectacular as in the old days when poverty was lifted to affluence, because when it grew into a big game, the big gamesters of the business world stepped in and occupied the board to the exclusion of the little men. The same thing is going on in Glendale but it is interesting to hear the old-timers—and that means men who have lived in Glendale ten years or more—tell of the big jumps they have seen.

For instance—there is that lot on the northeast corner of Maryland and Broadway that Cole & Damerell sold 11 years ago for $600 to a man who held it for a while and then sold it to Mattison B. Jones, who held it until about a year ago and then sold it at what seemed a very good price, $8000, to Messrs. Grose and Allison. They have just sold it to a group of men, which includes Messrs. Doner, Hemenway and Burn, and others who are good judges of values, for a price in the neighborhood of $20,000.

About 12 years ago, the three lots whereon the Central building stands, and the lots just east, which Howard Walker is now improving, sold for $2000. Today, without any buildings on them, they are estimated to be worth $60,000. Frank Marsh was the man who bought them for $2000. After holding them for several years, he sold them to Howard Walker.

Lots Nos. 7 and 8 in block C, between California and Wilson on the west side of the street, sold for $3600 apiece, plus the cost of street improvements, about July, 1920. One of the lots was sold for $8000 about a month ago, and the owner of the other one recently turned down an offer of $10,000 for it.

The southwest corner of Wilson and Brand was sold to Mr. Cole of Cole & Damerell 12 years ago with the house now on it, for $4500. About eight years ago it was purchased by the Misses Baldwin for $12,000, they turning in two lots on the trade. As most people know, it was sold recently for $45,000, or ten times what it brought 12 years ago.

The southwest corner of Brand and California was purchased by Mr. Kranz from Mr. Cole in 1907, for $1250. One month ago Mr. Kranz refused $15,000 for it.

It was probably about that time that Henry Ackley improved an 80-foot frontage on Elk street between Brand and Louise (for which he is said to have paid $300), with a house which cost $1200. It was further improved and sold for $2800, sold again for $6500, and a few weeks ago was purchased by the Elks' lodge for several thousand dollars' advance on the figure last quoted.

FORMER PRINCESS SEEKS DIVORCE

Famous as Most Beautiful Red Cross Nurse in France

(By International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, May 23.—Reports were current here today that the former Russian Princess Troubetskoy, famous as the most beautiful Red Cross nurse in France during the war, plans to begin action for divorce from Captain Wallace Straight Schultz, Milwaukee club man, after establishing a residence here. She has been on the coast some time, dividing her time between San Diego, Los Angeles and San Francisco. The princess was married to Schultz in Washington after a whirlwind courtship. He was later reported to have started a divorce action at Green Bay, Wis., and to have dropped it. The princess owns an airplane and uses it frequently for flights between coast cities. She was reported today to be in Los Angeles conferring with attorneys.

When a man says that he has a perfect legal right to do it, he means that no decent man would do it.

RAIN MENACES CHILDREN'S PARADE

Youngsters Hope That Entertainment Will Not Have To Be Postponed

Children in the grade schools are anxiously watching the clouds for indications of what the weather is likely to be tomorrow afternoon, the time set for the parade of their floral floats at Intermediate school at 3:30 o'clock. This has always been a most picturesque affair, revealing much talent and ingenuity on the part of the youngsters competing, and it will be a disappointment to their elders as well as the boys and girls, if it again has to be postponed or called altogether. Many prizes have been offered, most of them toys which have been donated by merchants of the city.

The variety entertainment will take place in the evening at Intermediate, in the auditorium at 8 o'clock and is worthy of a large attendance. The side shows which will precede it and which will be put on by high school talent, will put the real carnival spirit into the affair and should help greatly in making it a tremendous success.

As announced Saturday, the first prize for the Vaughn cakes was won by Mrs. G. D. Roach, the second going to Mrs. Kuehny and the third to Mrs. Beman of the Broadway P.-T. A. Mrs. Roach received $1 in cash, Mrs. Kuehny an apron and Mrs. Beman a fancy handkerchief.

MRS. A. M. HUNT SERVES LUNCHEON

Mrs. A. M. Hunt and Mrs. Chas. H. Temple were hostesses today to members of the executive board of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, whom they entertained with a four-course luncheon served at Mrs. Hunt's home, 205 East Acacia avenue, at 12 o'clock.

Scotch broom and white gladiolas were the blossoms chosen to carry out the dainty white and yellow color motif at the prettily appointed luncheon table, where places were marked for Mmes. Charles E. Hutchinson, Mabel Franklin Ocker, Walter N. Stamps, Mabel M. Rudy, C. E. Norton, E. W. Kinney, John Robert White and the hostesses.

The afternoon hours were devoted to business matters of the club.

ALARM CLOCK GOES OFF—THIEF CAUGHT

(By International News Service)

SPOKANE, Wash., May 23.—An alarm clock included in the loot of a daylight house robbery proved a jinx for a 13-year-old boy burglar here. The youth, apprehended while looting a house in the suburbs, fled into a thick clump of pines, closely followed by residents of the district. The youth had apparently made good his escape when the alarm clock began to ring and the chase was on. Flying heels carried the boy out of reach, but not until his identity had been revealed. Police officers who visited the home to arrest the boy, found the family in such an impoverished condition that each of the "cops" contributed $2 for temporary relief. The youth is being held by juvenile author-

GOVERNMENT SHOULD BE MORE ECONOMICAL

CHURCH MEMBERS DO NOT FEAR RAIN

Rev. Clifford Cole Delivers Earnest Discourse on the "Call to Service"

The "unusual" weather of yesterday seemed to have no dampening effect on the attendance at the Central Christian church. The morning service crowded the building. The minister spoke on the Call for Service and enlistments were made for full-time service in the church. A number of young people from this church are life recruits for the ministry and mission field.

Last night, Alexander Campbell Smither, for 20 years pastor of the First Christian church of Los Angeles, spoke on "The Greatest Institution in the World—the Church." He declared that the church is the one voice in this world that has a word for its troubles. When Jesus was here upon the earth he was limited to one body, to one small country, to one generation. In the church which was born on Pentecost he speaks in many tongues, he walks among all races, he lives and loves in millions of hearts. The church is his body, his bride.

On the question of marriage, of the home, of public morals, of strife between labor and capital, of personal integrity, of a torn world, it is the church that bears the solution and has the message. No other institution known among men can bring about the brotherhood of men, and peace and righteousness.

After the sermon last night, every man and woman was prouder that he or she was a member of the church. It was the message for the hour. Dr. Smither is one of the best known ministers of Southern California and while not now actively engaged in the ministry is doing an outstanding work in rendering assistance to all the church and is kept busy from Sunday to Sunday.

It was reported yesterday that plans and specifications are now in shape for submission for bids for the new Christian church and it is hoped that contracts can be let within a couple of weeks for the building.

J. C. SPAULDING DELIVERS ADDRESS

John C. Spaulding, of Tiffany's, New York city, gave a talk to the congregation of the Church of the Holy Family after the 9:30 o'clock mass yesterday morning, on the subject of "Stained Glass Windows."

In his brief sketch of the history of stained glass windows, Mr. Spaulding said that the Catholic church had been the patron of art since the first centuries; that up to the thirteenth century all that was beautiful and artistic was due to the church. The monks made the transcrition of the Bible on parchment with beautiful illumination of initial letters their life work, a labor of love; guilds of glass makers gave their whole lives to the making of stained glass without thought of money compensation, for it was a work of the heart, not a commercial industry. Money, the men had to have, of course, in order to live, but there was no mention of so much money for so much work; they were given the commission to produce a certain piece of work and they did it as a work of love. The history of stained glass was almost all Catholic, he said.

It was not until the 15th century that art was commercialized. "In that century," said Mr. Spaulding, "Protestant fanaticism destroyed all that was beautiful and reverential in worship. From that time on, artists worked no longer to produce works of art to the honor and glory of God, and for love of Him. I am not a Catholic; these are merely facts of history which I relate.

"In New York city recently a piece of glass 30 by 30 inches, sold for $70,000. It was a relic of a window made prior to the 13th century. It brought this price because it was a work that came from the innermost soul of the man who made it. Tiffany's have been buying antiques for years for people who prize the things that are not mediocre, for their homes as well as their churches."

Mr. Spaulding said that the plan of the church being built by this parish called for something fine in elaboration. The windows should mean something, they should be sermons in glass. Church windows from the third century to the present day have been used as memorials, either of some trait of the person in whose memory they are given, some trait that should live, or incidents of the Gospel story.

Mr. Spaulding has been studying symbolism for 25 years. He spoke with admiration of the symbolism of the Catholic church and the reverence of Catholics for the house of God. He told the story of a great artist whose picture of the ascension of Christ into heaven was criticized because the imprint of His feet was shown on the ground below. This was realism, the critics said, not understanding the significance of the symbol of the imprint of His feet: That His footprints remained for us to follow Him.

Mr. Spaulding praised the choice of the Young Ladies' Institute, who have pledged themselves to buy a window, and chose for its design the picture of the mother of Christ, the highest example of womanhood. This window will portray the Immaculate Conception and the pictures and designs show its colorings to be exquisite. The transepts will contain windows portraying the symbols of the four evangelists.

Mr. Spaulding explained the two styles of stained glass windows: The mosaic, which comes down from the 13th century, and the painted glass of a later day. Tiffany's, he said, knows only one kind of work, the best. Louis Tiffany himself, a man now advanced in years, is the art director. Men who receive an order know nothing of the price. They are to do their best work, regardless of price.
